Whether you're shopping for your wife, sister, or mother, choosing a Valentine's Day gift for the special woman—or women—in your life can come with some intimidation factor. Whether you're looking for a petite gift that's packed with feeling, a treasure that she will keep forever, or a dramatic present for the number one lady in your life, we've found the chicest Valentine's Day gifts that are sure to wow her at every price point.

A Monthly Membership at The Well

If your Valentine is obsessed with wellness—and you want to spoil her silly—then a monthly membership at The Well is the golden ticket. Included in membership is access to unlimited movement and meditation classes, access to everything from the thermal suite, private training gym, and meditation dome, to the the social spaces, preferred pricing for treatments and services, 12 health coaching sessions, and a comprehensive integrated care team spanning 10 modalities.

Or, if a shared experience is more appealing, the Well is also offering a number of treatments over Valentine's Day Weekend. On the menu: a 30-minute reflexology session and dinner for two, or a 60-minute deep tissue massage and dinner for two, depending on the desired level of indulgence.
