Natural deodorants are having a moment. So many formidable formulas have come out offering protection without aluminum or parabens (many have cut baking soda from the plan, too!) that it's almost hard to choose which ones to try. And many of them come in scents so elevated and unusual, you wouldn't be embarrassed to wear them as fragrance. Read on for some of the best new deodorants that are as clean as they are clean-smelling.

The Best Natural Deodorant With Colloidal Silver

Purequosa Pits + Package Natural Deodorizing Body Spray

Colloidal silver is known for its anti-bacterial properties, so it makes sense that the metal is employed in this body spray. Along with cedarwood and vetiver, there's grapefruit and orange, and lemon tea tree and sage. It's also a favorite at the Well.
